RELATE

ASSESSMENT TASK 1

Create a display of visual images portrayed by the media that do not reinforce gender stereotypes for 3 males and 3 females. For each image, write a paragraph explaining how gender stereotypes are not being reinforced.

Gender stereotypes are simplistic generalisations about the gender attributes, differences, and roles of individuals and/or groups. Stereotypes can be positive or negative though rarely communicate accurate information about people. Traditionally, the female stereotypical role is to marry and have children, to put her family's welfare before her own, be loving, compassionate, caring, nurturing, and sympathetic; and find time to be sexy and feel beautiful. The male stereotypical role is to be the financial provider, be assertive, competitive, independent, courageous, and career-focused and hold his emotions in check. These sorts of stereotypes can be damaging as they can limit peoples behaviours, interests or skills.

Example:

	David Beckham is a famous soccer star who used to earn up to $200,000 a week to play soccer. Soccer is a competitive sport and this reinforces the male stereotypical role of competitiveness and the role of a financial provider due to his large income. This image shows he can be a loving and caring parent too, which traditionally has been seen as the stereotypical female role.
